Wick development plans continuing

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

City officials this month will attempt to push forward plans for the long-awaited Metro World Centre project.

City councilmembers will be presented with amendments to the Wick Road Tax Increment Financing and Development Plan March 27. This plan calls for city development of public improvement projects, such as road work, needed for the Metro World Centre. The amendments deal with changes in estimated costs and in the proposed alignment of streets and utilities.

Changes in road alignment stem from revised plans for the Metro World Centre, which has been in the planning stages for nearly five years.

The development covers 7.6 million square feet surrounded by Wayne and Merriman roads, I-94, Ecorse and Henry Ruff roads. It is slated to include resort hotels, office buildings, conference centers, apartments and a world college facility.

The revised plans were submitted by developer Lloyd Eccelstone Jr. in January. One change involves a reduction in the development area; it was originally 9.2 million square feet. Also, original plans called for office buildings, rather than hotels, being built along I-94.

"It was a rethinking of how the whole thing should work," said Dennis Oakes, community development director. "The new version is more compact...it uses the land better."

As a result of Eccelstone's changes, city officials have reworked plans for public improvements.

The other significant amendment deals with financing the public works. The project has been divided into two phases. Phase I projects will be funded by an $8.5 million TIFA bond issue. Oakes hopes bonds will be sold by May or June. Bond investments are reimbursed with revenue generated by the improvements and development in the TIFA district.

Among the Phase I public improvements are the extension of Smith as a boulevard west from Merriman to Vining. Vining Road will also be built as a boulevard.

Another Phase I project is the construction of ramps for a proposed I-94 interchange near Vining. The wait for approval has caused a delay in the Metro World Centre project, Oakes said, but officials of the Michigan Department of Transportation have now offered assurance approval will be granted. Nevertheless, Oakes doubts construction on the ramps could begin within the three-year deadline imposed by bond money spending guidelines.

Because only 80 percent of captured TIFA revenue can be used for debt service of bond issues, the other 20 percent will fund the ramps, Oakes explained. It will also fund staff and consulting fees for the improvement project.

Phase I projects for the actual Metro Centre development include one hotel, one office building and the college.

The college facility has been referred to as the catalyst for the entire development area. The facility would provide graduate courses in business, travel and tourism, languages and international trade. Eastern Michigan University officials have already expressed interest in the project, according to Oakes.

As for Phase II projects, they will be put on hold until sufficient funds are available.

"It will only be done if there is sufficient development," Oakes said.

Officials hope construction of Phase I projects can begin this year, but an actual construction schedule has not been approved. Additional information on funding is being requested from Eccelstone, Oakes said.

"We have a letter of intent from our developer. We want a letter of commitment," Oakes said. "We think we'll have that for council."

For now, city officials are encouraged with the progress of plans for the World Metro Centre.

"Now we've spent four or five years planning this, it's time to begin," Oakes said.

Art, crafts show debuts in Romulus

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Artistic creations ranging from porcelain dolls to wooden sculptures filled the hallways of St. Aloysius this weekend during the Romulus Art Show.

The event, which served to raise funds for the school Parent Club, also offered local artists an opportunity to show off their talent and perhaps make a sale or two.

Michelle Major organized the art show.

"They (the funds raised) are there to buy the little extras for the kids," Major said.

These "little extras" have included funding the school music department and purchasing ceiling fans for all of the classrooms.

Friday, before the show, Major said she was optimistic about the event.

"Everybody seems excited about it," she said.

The Parent Club raised $1,100 from renting 45 tables for displays. Members expected to bring in another $400 through a 50/50 raffle and a bake sale at the show.

Meanwhile, organizers plan to make the Romulus Art Show an annual, or even twice-a-year, event.

Symposium slated Students continue fight against increased school dropout rate

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus High School students are continuing their fight against an increasing dropout rate through a second symposium on the subject.

Like the symposium staged Feb. 3, the second event will be staged at Wayne County Community College on Haggerty Road. It is planned for 9 a.m. April 7.

Student leaders, community representatives and business people will regroup to study some of the suggestions discussed at the first symposium.

Ed Clark, director of the Romulus Partnership for Education Program, said the second symposium will begin where the first one ended and hopefully additional progress will be made.

"We're inviting all the businesses in the area to participate," Clark said. "They can share some of the things they can do from their end."

Clark suggested publicity, scholarships and internships as possible ways business people can help curb the dropout rate.

"We're talking about their future employees here," Clark said. "It's wise for the businesses to invest their time and energy into them now."

The goal of the upcoming symposium is to generate an action plan, Clark said.

"We didn't want to give people the impression we were just giving lip service to this," Clark said.

The first symposium drew approximately 200 students. Study groups discussed topics such as: parental involvement, peer relations, self concept and substance abuse.

Participants in this project hope to have the action plan in place by fall.

Community members are welcome to attend the symposium. For more information call Tom Dolan, principal of Romulus High School, or Clark, at 941-2170.

Wick, Middlebelt are called dangerous

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Those driving through the intersection of Wick and Middlebelt roads may have cause to feel uneasy these days. The intersection has been rated as the most dangerous intersection in Romulus by police officials.

Several citizen complaints prompted a study of the Middlebelt and Lucas Drive intersection approximately one month ago. Lucas Drive is the first street south of Wick off Middlebelt.

A check was made of all accidents at the intersection since Lucas Drive was opened for traffic in August 1986. A total of 25 accidents have been reported at Lucas Drive alone.

"It appears that vehicles turning onto Middlebelt from Lucas Drive is the main cause of these accidents at the location," Police Chief Fred Dans-by wrote in a letter to Mayor Beverly McAnally. "The total number of accidents in this area of Wick and Middlebelt was 52 in 1988, making it the highest accident area in the city."

Dansby offered two suggestions to control accidents in the area. First, he recommended a left-turn signal for east and west traffic on Wick. The Wayne County Road Commission has been alerted of this need, Dansby added.

A second suggestion offered involves stricter traffic enforcement in the area, Dansby said.

"Officers will be assigned to concentrate on this area to reduce the accident rate," he said.

The intersection with the second-highest accident rate is Middlebelt and Ecorse, with a total of 49 accidents in 1988. Van Born and Middlebelt placed third with 31 reported accidents.

Amended solid-waste plan eyed

A final draft of the five-year update of the Wayne County Solid Waste Plan is expected to be released May 22.

The plan is currently being reviewed by members of the Wayne County Solid Waste Implementation Committee. The document outlines the solid-waste initiative Wayne County officials will take and require of local communities through the year 2000.

Members of the Conference of Western Wayne — a regional advocacy group composed of representatives of 17 western Wayne County communities — met Friday and again urged amendments to the county solid-waste plan proposed last year. CWW members want county officials to better address recycling and a solid-waste reduction-effort for commercial and industrial waste producers.

The CWW monthly meeting was staged at the Inkster Recreation Complex.

Group director plans to resign

The executive director of the Conference of Western Wayne — a regional advocacy group composed of representatives of 17 western Wayne County communities — announced her resignation Thursday during an executive board meeting.

Ann Bollin, who has coordinated the activities of the CWW for more than four years, cited personal child-care requirements as the reason for leaving her post.

CWW representatives said they would make a recommendation for a successor within two weeks.

CWW Chairman Charles Griffin, also the mayor of Westland, accepted Bollin's resignation during the monthly meeting of the group Friday.

"Ann has been one of the finest employees I have ever had the opportunity to work with," Griffin said. "She will be missed."

Congressman hosts meeting

U.S. Senator Carl Levin (D-Detroit) will attend a reception Monday in Canton Township.

The reception will be staged at the Canton Township Library, 1200 S. Canton Center Road. The event is set from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Purpose of the visit is to allow area residents to voice their concerns about the federal government.

The reception is open to the public and is free of charge.

State police eye speeders

A new program designed to "get tough" with speeders on area freeways was launched Monday by officials of the local Michigan State Police post.

Officials from the Ypsilanti post unveiled several new programs to deter drivers from speeding on local roadways.

Inkster woman nets new 'Fortune'

Inkster resident Johney Cheney, 73, won $3,500 Saturday on the statewide broadcast of the Michigan Lottery Fame and Fortune show.

Cheney, a retired sixth-grade Willow Run school teacher, purchased her winning instant-lottery ticket from the Wyoming and Six Food Market, in Detroit.

She was one of six contestants to appear on the show. Grand prize was $50,000.

The Chenille Sisters

Stunning harmonies and accessible songs blended with campy humor and hilarious skits make the Saturday performance of "The Chenille Sisters" extra special. The event is being presented by the Huron Civic Theater at 8 p.m. in the Huron Civic Auditorium, 32044 Huron River Drive, three miles west of Flat Rock and across from the Michigan Memorial Park, in New Boston. Tickets are $8 for adults, $7 for students and senior citizens. The Chenille sisters include Connie Huber (from left), Grace Morand and Cheryl Dawdy. Their act has been tailored to colleges, clubs and festivals, in addition to a few radio and television appearances. Local aid is sought in new railroads bill

By TERRY JACOBY
ANP Staff Writer

Better training of local firefighters and other emergency personnel was one of two possible legislative steps recommended to members of the House Transportation Committee by a rail safety subcommittee.

The subcommittee recently completed their study of the ability to respond to hazardous waste spills caused by railroad accidents.

State Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton) said the subcommittee found that inspection procedures of Michigan railroad track is adequate, especially those tracks frequented by trains carrying dangerous chemicals.

But Kosteva, chairman of the subcommittee, said there was a need for improvement in the area of training at the local level.

"The recommendations in the final report focus on providing more comprehensive training for firefighters and other emergency personnel to handle hazardous material spills," Kosteva said.

"In addition, this need should be backed with a solid funding mechanism to pay for the necessary training."

Several trains carrying hazardous materials pass through Western Wayne County on a regular basis, including a chemical train operated by the Midland Dow Co., which travels to Midland, MI, on CSX lines.

The train passes through a number of local communities including Romulus, Wayne, Westland and Plymouth.

Members of the subcommittee agreed some training is available, but not enough to handle an emergency, Kosteva said.

"It was apparent after listening to the testimony that Michigan's firefighters need to be better equipped to handle a major rail incident involving hazardous materials," Kosteva said.

"Efforts are being made to provide equipment and training on a volunteer basis, but this problem needs more attention."

State officials are currently drafting legislation to develop mandatory minimum training guidelines to be completed by rail, fire, police and emergency personnel.

A consortium will be set up to formulate ideas on expanding training programs to reach more fire and rail personnel, how to best equip and maintain a fixed training site and suggest a means for funding.

If the consortium does not recommend a viable funding source by Dec. 31, 1990, a tax or surcharge would go into effect on Jan. 1, 1991.

The most likely target for the tax would be either the generator or the first receiver of a chemical being transported.

The subcommittee staged three public hearings, including one in Romulus on June 27, 1988. Testimony at the hearings was presented by a number of groups including railroad companies, rail union representatives, fire, police and emergency personnel, chemical companies and the Michigan departments of state police and transportation.

Representatives of the Western Wayne County Fire Departments Mutual Aid Association appeared at the Romulus hearing to make a case for financial assistance.

The group said the money is needed to better staff, equip and train firefighters in its member communities for handling a hazardous materials incident.

Pedestrian is assaulted

A 25-year-old Garden City man was beaten with a stick as he walked along Ecorse Road early Saturday morning, according to Romulus police officials.

Two men reportedly jumped out of the car and attacked the man at approximately 1 a.m.

After producing a wallet upon demand, the pedestrian was struck several more times, police said. The victim was treated and released at Annapolis Hospital.

Police are looking for two black males, approximately five-foot-four-inches tall, weighing 120 pounds, in connection with the assault.

Student wins dinner out

Romulus High School student Jennifer Buzonowski won dinner out with her family from the Holiday Inn, for her report on the most influential person in her life.

The Holiday Inn, located at Detroit Metropolitan Airport, sponsored the essay contest by providing the winner with a gift certificate for dinner for four.

Buzonowski chose her mother, Valerie Gagnon, as the most influential person in her life.

Generator stolen from trailer

A $2,000 Honda electric generator was stolen from a construction trailer this weekend, according to Romulus police officials.

Police officials believe someone broke into the trailer, on the 30000 block of Flynn Drive, between Friday and Monday. Access was gained by breaking in the door, police officials said.

The case remains under investigation.

Recreation center sponsors bowling

Adult Nine Pin has been scheduled for 9 p.m. Saturday at the Romulus Bowling Lanes.

The event will be sponsored by the Romulus Recreation Department. The cost is $15 per couple and includes pizza, three games of bowling and all jackpots.

Volunteer coaches, umpires needed

The Romulus Recreation Department is seeking adults for volunteer positions with summer youth games.

Positions include coaches for youth softball teams and umpires for all summer youth games.

Parked taxi is stolen

As a cab driver ate his lunch late Thursday morning in Flag's Restaurant, on Middlebelt Road, someone casually drove his taxi out of the parking lot.

The incident took place at 11:04 a.m., according to Romulus police officials. The cab driver reportedly left his jacket, which had the keys in the pocket, in the car when he entered the restaurant.

The cab is an orange and white 1985 Dodge.

Romulus hosts charity drive

Romulus intersections will be the site of a Tootsie Roll drive for charity Friday through Sunday.

The drive will be operated by the St. Stephen's Knight of Columbus from New Boston. Proceeds will go to the mentally retarded of Michigan.

Drop-in center offers student counseling

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Casual counseling without an appointment is available to Romulus High School students in the form of a drop-in counseling center.

The center, in operation since October, is open every school day during lunch hour.

Each day the center, a small office, is staffed by representatives from agencies such as the Romulus Youth Assistance Program, Family Neighborhood Services and Counterpoint crisis services.

"The goal of it is to provide some supportive counseling," said Principal Tom Dolan. "It's short-term intervention...immediate access to trained professionals. If you're just bummed out one day, you can drop in."

This center is the creation of the school intervention team, Dolan said. Members of the team coordinate counseling services for students in the junior and senior high schools. The 2-year-old team is comprised of four school counselors, the high school social worker and psychologist, and representatives from many of the agencies which service the drop-in center.

Team members meet weekly to review cases referred to them by teachers, administrators and parents, Dolan said. Then, a member contacts the family of the student in ques-

The drop-in center at Romulus High School is only one of the concerns of the district intervention team, which also serves the junior high school. The team regularly receives referrals for students facing problems in school and works with parents to try to find ways to help. Members not only represent the school district but outside agencies tion to provide support and suggestions.

"Out of the intervention team came the idea that it might be helpful for students to have a drop-in center," Dolan said.

"It is really a marriage between the school resources and community services," he said. "It's a system that minimizes the red tape."

Of course major problems cannot be sorted out in a single lunch hour, so some students are referred to other services or parents are contacted and urged to seek help, Dolan said.

Mae Jackson is a counselor at the high school and coordinates the intervention team. She would like to see more students utilizing the center.

"We're having some response, not as much as we would like," she said.

Romulus residents try hand at restaurant ownership

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Coffee lovers will be pleased about the newest addition to downtown Romulus.

The Coffee Shop, on Goddard Road, opened its doors Feb. 13 and is on the way to becoming a popular downtown snack spot.

Actually, owners Nancy Payne and John Parriet are delving into the restaurant business for the first time with this shop. Although Payne has worked in restaurants, ownership is a new experience for her.

Why buy a restaurant? "I've been in Romulus six years, and there is no restaurant in town," Payne said. She said she thought a downtown coffee shop would be convenient for tenants of the nearby senior apartments.

When a flower shop in town closed, Payne combined her funds with her niece's husband, Parriet, and opened The Coffee Shop.

Now that the restaurant is a reality, Payne has mixed feelings about her decision. "It has its ups and downs," she said.

Payne has plenty of experience dealing with her "most loyal" customers. She has provided personalized care for senior citizens and has worked for the Wayne County Office on Aging.

Now Payne, a mother of three, finds herself quite involved with a new business.

"I get here at seven in the morning, and I try to get out at eight (in the evening)," she said.

Goals for the restaurant include saving enough cash to install a grill and a ventilation system.

"We were hoping for spring, but we're not ready," Payne said.

The purchases have been put off until late summer.

Until then The Coffee Shop has a limited menu. Payne believes the 100 percent Columbian blend coffee and fresh baked goods are enough to bring customers in.

Officials amend ordinance

City officials are adding finishing touches to an ordinance regarding the acquisition and disposition of city-owned property.

Amendments to the ordinance, which is one year old, are now awaiting final approval from city councilmembers.

The changes have been designed to make the ordinance more easily understood, according to Matthew Rafferty, city assessor and property disposition committee member.

"The changes in the ordinance are not that big. It's just a matter of cleaning it up," he said.

One amendment, for example, deals with the ability to redeem property after a period of not paying taxes. Land may be redeemed with the payment of all back taxes and fees owed to the city.

The amendment, however, states that property must be redeemed within 90 days of receiving written notice that the city is claiming the property. No extensions will be granted.

Another change refers to property for sale by the disposition committee.

Local man faces 2 assault charges

A Romulus man has been charged with the recent shooting of two men behind Ebony Hall on Wayne.

Larry D. Yharbough, 23, pleaded not guilty Thursday to two counts of assault with intent to commit murder and one charge of felony firearm. He was arraigned in 34th District Court, in Romulus, with bond set at $200,000. Yharbough was remanded to Wayne County Jail to await his preliminary examination which is set for March 15.

The shootings for which Yharbough is charged reportedly took place March 4 in the parking lot of Ebony Hall, in Romulus. One of the victims, Walter Bradley, 21, of Westland, was released from the Westland Medical Center March 8 after being treated for two gunshot wounds to the chest.

Shawn Austin, 20, of Inkster, was admitted to the medical center for a gunshot wound to his lower right arm. He was treated and released.

Halecreek youths display 'classical' talents

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

Students at Halecreek Elementary School, in Romulus, were treated to a performance by their peers Friday.

Classical pianists Julie Yonts, 11, and Alan Chiu, 11, both sixth-graders at Halecreek, performed for fellow students in their music class.

Yonts performed for the packed house first. She played Tarantella, by Serge Prokofieff, and The Village Waltz, by Louis Kohler. Her audience rewarded her performance with thunderous applause.

Then it was Chiu's turn. She played Sonatina, by Clementi.

Chiu and Yonts both began playing the piano within the past two years, each receiving private instructions from piano teachers.

Yonts said she began playing the piano as a hobby. Back then her Aunt Genie was her teacher.

"I told her I wanted to play the piano and I was interested and wanted to see if she could teach me," Yonts said. "So I started taking lessons at age 10 with my Aunt Jessie. Then I started taking lessons with Beatrice Johnson."

Playing the piano is something Yonts hopes she never has to give up. Classical music especially has become very important to the young pianist.

"Practicing is really hard work sometimes. I try to practice every day. Sometimes I skip a day and make up for it the next day by doubling it up," Yonts said. "The time I like to practice is in the evening too because I have a lot of busy things to do in the day. Playing the piano gets those things off my mind."

Chiu began playing the piano when his mother bought him the instrument.

"I like classical music a lot. I don't like rock music," Chiu said. "I normally practice every day, sometimes for one hour."

Piano lessons, he said, are sometimes extremely difficult. His mother has been a help to him as well as two cousins, who also play the piano.

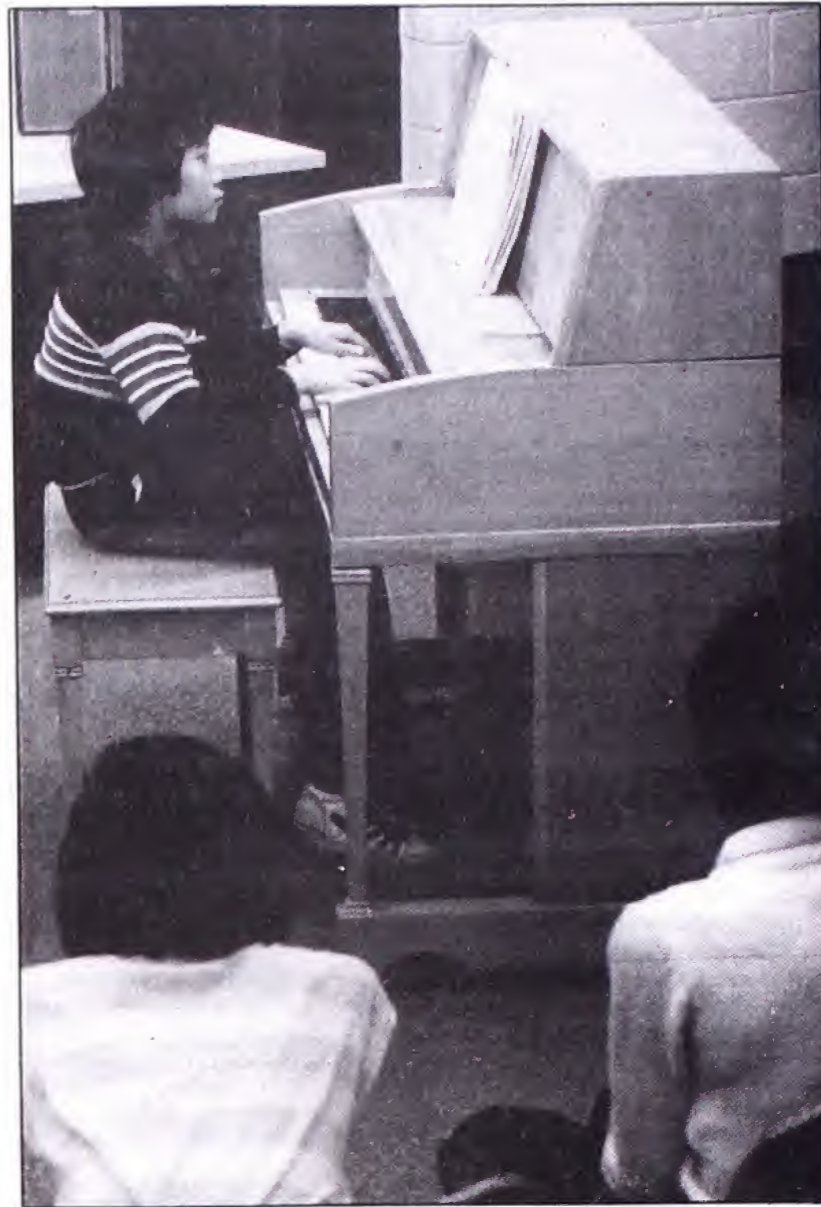

"My first teacher played the piano and told me to go slow when I play. But then my next teacher told me to go faster and play much harder," Chiu said.

Chiu performs the latter method, which is evidenced by his quick action along the keyboards.

Chiu also hopes to make the piano and classical music a permanent part of his life. But if that does not work out, Chiu also plays the flute, the coronet, the harmonica, the guitar and the violin.

Two sixth-grade students at Halecreek Elementary School, in Romulus, performed a series of classical compositions for their classmates Friday. The students have been taking classical piano lessons for approximately two years. Alan Chiu (right) and Sonia Dillard (above) both hope to make music a career. Romulus youths celebrate reading

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

If books could talk, they would shout "hoorah" this month at elementary schools in Romulus.

Throughout the month, as announced by Michigan Gov. James Blanchard, reading will be highlighted in all schools.

Students in each of the schools are celebrating the reading month in big ways.

Specifically, however, several unique programs are occurring at each school. Each school has put together a month-long calendar with a list of reading events staged at the schools. Some activities include a joke day, book swaps and reading contests, such as one at Halecreek, in Romulus.

At the school, students are participating in the "Book It" program, in conjunction with Pizza Hut restaurants. Students read for a specified time period and they earn a free pizza certificate, according to Art McPharlin, Halecreek principal.

"About 150 students are involved in this with six teachers. It states that the children will read 10 books in one month. They can read it at home. Then the parent verifies that the student read it and receive the certificate," McPharlin said. "In the third through sixth grades, we ask the students to write a report about their favorite book of the 10 they read."

At times, Halecreek school becomes unusually quiet thanks to the sustained reading time which has been set aside every day. Students and teachers are asked to stop whatever they are doing to read for 15 minutes.

Parents should check with their child's school to find out what activities are planned for reading month.

Youths named to honor roll

Students at Halecreek Elementary School, in Romulus, were honored recently for their academic achievement. The students were honored at a special assembly.

Representatives of Federal Mogul Corporation, partner to the school through the Partnership in Education Program, provided t-shirts for those students who earned perfect attendance records. The t-shirts were presented at the assembly.

Enjoying Good Health

Dr. Baghdoian is an orthopedic surgeon on the Medical Staff of Oakwood Downriver Medical Center, and maintains a private practice in Southgate. He is a clinical professor in the Department of Orthopedic Surgery, Wayne State University School of Medicine.

LET'S BE UP FRONT ABOUT PROBLEM BACKS

By Michael Baghdoian, M.D.

Our backs were not designed for walking upright. If you consider the evolution of humans, then you will understand why walking on two legs instead of four puts added stress on our backs.

Because of this extra stress, back pain has become a common human condition that can strike anyone at any time. In fact, more than 80 percent of the adult population will suffer from lower back pain at some time in their lives.

CAUSES OF BACK PAIN

Most backaches are not caused by a single incident, but are the result of cumulative strain. Possibly the biggest single cause of backache is poor posture. Poor nutrition, obesity, and developmental abnormalities are just a few of the factors that also may lead to lower back problems.

Good posture, weight control, proper bending and lifting techniques, and regular exercise may help reduce the risk of back injury.

BREAK THE CYCLE

In order to treat back injuries, the cycle of pain and muscle spasm first must be broken. Rest, when combined with the application of heat to relieve spasm or cold to relieve inflammation, usually helps.

It is also important to have a good sleeping environment—a firm mattress.

In severe cases, physical therapy using ultrasound, high voltage dynamo, or massage may be required. Depending upon the injury, therapy may be needed for a short time or for a few months.

Back problems tend to become chronic conditions that recur frequently. But, with preventive techniques and proper care, most people can beat back pain and lead productive lives.

School reform: Area educators support new finance plan

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

If local educators were allowed to vote for a proposed school-finance reform bill in the state Legislature, they would overwhelmingly approve the package.

Members of the state Senate were expected to again vote this week on the Nye-Oxender school reform package, a bill that would reduce property taxes approximately 37 percent and increase the state sales tax from 4 to 6 cents.

The property-tax reduction would stem from a reduction in the millage rate levied by school districts.

Authors of the proposal estimate that $1.8 billion would be generated by the sales-tax increase. In addition, $1.3 billion would be lost in the property-tax relief.

Thus, a net amount of $500 million in additional income could be poured into the state public-education budget.

The proposal has been approved by members of the state House of Representatives. Senate members, however, last week rejected the proposal in a 22-14 vote.

If approved by state lawmakers, the proposal would be placed on a special statewide election ballot. A May 16 election date has been proposed.

However, state lawmakers

Local impact of school reform

State lawmakers have already calculated the millage reductions in local school districts based on the tax-reform package. They also are touting the increased per-pupil spending numbers that would result from the tax shift.

What follows is a comparison between the current millage rate and per-pupil spending figure and the rate proposed in tax reform. The proposed rate would be effective for the 1989-90 school year, if the measure were approved by Michigan voters.

PPS is per-pupil spending rate. The proposed millage and per-pupil-spending rates are based on a state formula.

must approve the package before a March 16 deadline to ensure the May 16 election date.

Dr. Dennis O'Neill, superintendent of the Wayne-Westland Community Schools, said the bill "is good for the school district and the taxpayers who reside in it."

"First of all, let me point out that this is the only game in town," O'Neill said. "And, like many school districts in this state, when it comes to money, we are fighting for survival.

This newest proposal will give property owners the tax relief they have been requesting for over the years and, on the other hand, bring new dollars to schools financially depressed.

"It's good for the schools, for business and the taxpayers. I believe everybody should be supporting it," O'Neill said.

Members of the Republican-controlled state Senate are remaining cautious about the package. Some on-lookers believe this cautious attitude stems from a fear of retaliation by voters.

In 1983, a plan to increase the state sales tax was rejected by Michigan voters. The proposal was backed by Gov. James Blanchard and was endorsed by a majority of state lawmakers.

However, two Democratic lawmakers lost their Senate seats, after they supported Blanchard's package.

Dr. Gary Jackson, superintendent of the Huron Community Schools, believes the newest proposal "is the best proposal that has come along in many years."

"The plan provides immediate tax relief to property owners," Jackson said, "and it raises money for schools that are desperately in need of it. Although it doesn't eliminate the disparity between the rich and the poor school districts, it does close the gap."

One of the major reasons for school-finance reform in Michigan stems from the fact that some of the wealthier school districts are able to spend more than $7,000 per pupil, while poorer districts, can spend only $2,500. School-finance reform is designed to bridge that gap and redistribute funding.

Area school districts, therefore, could reap the benefits from the proposal. The idea is a departure from the present funding system, in which school districts rely solely on millages levied in the school districts and a complex state-aid formula used to provide financial assistance to poorer districts.

Dr. William Bedell, superintendent of the Romulus schools, sees the proposed plan as a "bandage approach to a serious malaise."

"In the short term, the plan gives temporary relief to most in-formula school districts. In the long term, it provides no equity, and it is a bad plan for communities like Romulus that have good tax bases.

"Consequently, if the Senate should happen to approve this bill and it goes to the vote of the people, it will not be approved. It's a temporary solution. The people know it. It gives millions of dollars of tax relief to industry, while only shifting the tax burden on the average citizen."

Dr. Elvin F. Peets, superintendent of the Van Buren school district, said an analysis of the proposed bill has convinced him that the plan is good for the Van Buren school district.

"The plan represents a solution to the inequities (in school financing) as they now stand, and I believe the people of Van Buren would receive a substantial reduction of their property taxes, in exchange for a 2 cents sales tax hike. I really don't have a problem with the switch over, because authorities are telling us that the sales tax is as stable as the property tax."

Garnett Hegeman, superintendent of Inkster schools, stressed that the plan "was better than nothing."

"However, it is my opinion that it doesn't go far enough, although it may narrow the gap between the 'haves' and 'have not'.

"What is really disappointing is that school-finance reform appears to surface in every eight-to-10 year cycles, by nothing significantly is accomplished. And the bottom line is that children who need to be in the classrooms the most, are just not getting it," Hegeman said.

Happy anniversary

Local restaurant marks 7 years of service

Attention will be focused on Belle's Chicken this weekend as the restaurant celebrates its seventh anniversary in the Belle Plaza Shopping Center on Sumpter Road.

The business is the oldest of the many shops and services in the plaza, and is operated by Pam and Kevin Brigandi.

Pam Brigandi, who has resided in the area for 15 years, is not only a booster of her own business, but she is also a promoter of the Belle Plaza Shopping Center on Sumpter Road, the site of a variety of shops and services: Sumpter Food Center, a grocery store;

BUSINESS PROFILE

Once is Not Enough, a resale women's and children's clothing store; Kathy's Kreations, a flower shop; J.B.'s Place, a lounge; Ranch House, a restaurant, and Video Shop II, which is celebrating its fifth anniversary.

Belle Plaza Shopping Center also features the Academy of Martial Arts, California Toning and Robson Builders.

The Secretary of State office also brings many people into the plaza. The state office, which has been located in the plaza for several years, has moved into larger quarters to accommodate increased business.

"Belle Plaza is a convenient location for people living in Belleville, Sumpter Township and Van Buren Township, and the owners of the businesses are people who live in the area and who feel strongly about their community," Brigandi said. "We have a lot to offer in Belle Plaza. It is the only plaza in the city and the oldest plaza of any in the surrounding area.

In addition, we are a strong and growing shopping center."

Brigandi believes the Belle Plaza business owners feel "strongly about treating every customer as an individual - people to be catered to and cared for when they do business in the Belle Plaza." She noted that business owners strive to make their customers feel comfortable and to provide the best quality and service possible for them.

"We know many of our customers go the extra mile to shop here and pass a lot of other businesses on the way," Brigandi said.

Several road projects slated for spring, summer

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

Residents in western Wayne County may soon find the going a little smoother on several local roads scheduled for improvements in 1989.

Approximately 20 county roads are slated for paving or other improvements during 1989, according to Alan Richardson, an engineer for Wayne County.

Following is a list of road projects scheduled to take place this year, with a brief synopsis of each project.

Belleville

- Belleville Bridge - The county has contracted for a local firm to design the widening of Belleville Bridge, spanning Belleville Lake. Historical criteria must be met in this project, which will not be completed in 1989.

- Denton Road - The gravel portion of Denton Road near Lemontree Apartments will be paved as part of a special assessment project in 1989.

Canton Township

- Lilley Road - A 700-foot portion of Lilley Road will be reconstructed and realigned to remove a "jog" where the roadway joins Plymouth Township at Joy Road.

- Lotz Road - Lotz Road will be paved from Michigan Avenue north to Palmer Road. Palmer Road west to Canton Center will also be paved.

- Sheldon Road - Sheldon Road is scheduled to be paved from Michigan Avenue north to Palmer Road.

- Warren Road - Warren Road will be paved between Lilley Road and Haggerty Road and from I-275 east to the township boundary.

- Cherry Hill Road - Cherry Hill Road will undergo minor improvements and shoulder work between Carlson Road and Hix Road.

- Beck Road - Beck Road will be paved from Warren Road north to Joy Road.

- Joy Road - Joy Road will be paved from Beck Road to McClumpha.

- Haggerty Road - Not a county project, township officials would like to pave the road from Koppnick to Joy. The project is on hold, pending outcome of railroad crossing assessment agreement.

- Lilley Road - The paving of Lilley Road, between Michigan Avenue and Palmer Road, is also on hold, pending resolution of right-of-way problems.

Inkster

- Inkster Road - Inkster Road is scheduled for resurfacing in 1989, from Cherry Hill Road to Coronna. The road will retain five lanes.

Romulus

- Pennsylvania Road - Pennsylvania Road will be resurfaced in 1989, between Middle Belt and Inkster Road.

- Inkster Road - Inkster Road will also undergo resurfacing, between Wick Road and the Norfolk & Western railroad tracks.

- Ecorse Road - Ecorse Road, between Middle Belt and Inkster Road, will undergo repairs and the application of a new surface. It will remain a two-lane roadway.

- Merriman Road - Pending the acquisition of right-of-way and a final design, Merriman Road is scheduled for widening, from two lanes to five, between Ecorse Road and Michigan Avenue.

Wayne

- Merriman Road - The northern half of the widening project, from Van Born Road to Michigan Avenue, from two to five lanes. No completion date established.

Westland

- Merriman Road - Merriman Road is to be widened from Ford Road to Warren Road, from two to five lanes in Garden City, from Ann Arbor Trail to Joy Road in Westland. The section of Merriman Road between Warren and Ann Arbor Trail will not be widened, remaining four lanes. No completion date established.

- Warren Road - A cooperative effort between the city and the county, Warren Road will be widened to five lanes from Newburgh Road to Wayne Road. The project will be designed by Westland engineers and contracted through Wayne County. No completion date established.

- Newburgh Road - Newburgh Road is scheduled for future widening by the city, north of Warren Road.

Tax time: Homeowners must know millage, assessments

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

When summer taxes arrive in the mail July 1, local residents may only look at the bottom line, not knowing how their tax dollars are spent.

In terms of taxes, trying to keep track of who gets what can get a little complicated. Millage rates vary widely in each community, affected by local school districts, community colleges, intermediate school districts, parks, prisons, libraries and fire and police services, all of which want a piece of the prodigious tax pie.

In most communities in western Wayne County, Wayne County itself comes out a winner, garnering 7.02 mills from each homeowner, or $7.02 for every $1,000 of state equalized valuation.

During 1988 in Canton Township, the share of taxes going to Wayne County ranged between 10 and 11.7 percent, depending on the school dis-

City-by-city millage and tax report

Do you know the total number of mills you are charged as a homeowner? Millage rates are important in tax computation because they determine the total tax bill.

For example, if the total local millage rate—including city taxes, school taxes, county taxes and all others—is 80 mills and you own a $80,000 home (your SEV is $40,000 because state equalized valuation is approximately one-half of home value), your annual tax bill is approximately $3,200.

COMMUNITY	CITY TAXES	WATER/SEWER	POLICE/FIRE	WCISO	COMM. COLL.	WAYNE COUNTY	HCMA	JAIL	OTHER TAXES	TOTAL RATE

* Jail is new Wayne County jail millage approved Aug. 2, 1988. WCISO - Wayne County Intermediate School District. HCMA - Huron-Clinton Metropark Authority. COMM. COLLEGE - Schoolcraft Community College in Plymouth-Canton; Airport, Livonia and Garden City school districts (2.18 mills). Wayne County Community College in all others (1.00 mills). SOURCE: Local tax departments.

trict. School districts in all communities receive the largest share of local taxes, ranging from 50 to 68 percent of the total tax bill.

During 1988 in Canton Township, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools levied 36.77 mills, Wayne-Westland schools levied 47.93 mills and Van Buren schools levied 43 mills. The total number of mills levied in Canton Township, excluding school millage, was 22.02 mills.

The number of mills generated in each community for city or township services, including fire and police, amounts to approximately one-fourth of the total tax bill.

Receiving smaller slices of the tax pie are: Wayne County Community College, Schoolcraft College, Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, Wayne County Intermediate School District and the county jail.

The Wayne County Jail operates on 1 mill from taxpayers. Wayne County Community College receives 1 mill and Schoolcraft College, where applicable, receives 2.18 mills.

The Wayne County Intermediate School District receives 2.10 mills, an increase of 1 mill from last year, as the result of a successful millage campaign waged during the Nov. 8, 1988, general election.

The extra mill will pay for operating costs associated with special education programs throughout the area.

The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority operates eight Metroparks throughout southeastern Michigan for use by the general public. The HCMA received .24 mills for park operations in 1988 from local communities.

Although most local officials believe millage rates will not vary significantly from 1988 levels in July, factors such as county-wide increases in SEVs and pending school millage elections could cause an increase in taxes.

911: Emergency-telephone plan equipment to be installed

By BARBARA WILSON
ANP News Editor

Area residents will soon be able to summon emergency law-enforcement personnel by simply dialing "9-1-1" on their telephones.

The enhanced 9-1-1 service will be on line June 9 in all of western Wayne County, including Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Belleville and Romulus and Canton, Van Buren and Sumpster townships. Equipment for the new phone system is currently being installed.

Before April 19, all communities in western Wayne County will be equipped with the 9-1-1 service, according to Joseph Benyo, coordinator for the regional 9-1-1 phone system.

The equipment will be installed in the central dispatch unit in area police departments. The new phone system will allow residents to dial "9-1-1" and immediately alert police and fire officials about the location of the household or business. The location information will be available via a computer screen in the police-dispatch center.

Testing of the new system will take place from April 19 until May 16, Benyo said. Any problems with the system will be corrected before the June 9 start-up date.

Discussions about the new emergency phone-system began in 1985 by members of the Conference of Western Wayne. During the past two years, plans for the program have progressed quickly.

The new system will also allow emergency calls to be made from pay phones, without inserting coins. The location of the telephone booth will also be noted by police dispatchers.

The emergency line can also be called from cellular telephones, Benyo said. Those calls will be patched in directly to the nearest state police post, which will patch the call directly to the nearest community dispatcher.

Public-safety officials hope cellular phones will become as important to them as CB radios once were, Benyo said. A driver might see a serious accident along the roadway, and a quick call on the cellular phone would result in a speedy response from safety officials.

The major current hurdle in the overall phone plan, according to Benyo, is educating members of the public about the system. Officials from each community are expected to launch their only public-education campaign, which should be delivered to senior citizens groups, school children and other civic organizations. Also included in the education program is a definition of what constitutes an emergency.

"We have to make sure people know 9-1-1 is only to be used in an emergency," Benyo said. "Improper use will bog the system down."

Each community will fund the initial equipment purchase and installation, Benyo said. Residents will be assessed an additional 14 to 15 cents on each phone bill for the 9-1-1 service by Michigan Bell.

Private-jail proposal is debated

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

A new package of bills designed to put private companies in the prison business is receiving mixed reviews from local officials.

City and county jails could soon join the private sector under legislation proposed by state Sen. Robert Geake (R-Northville).

The package of bills, introduced last year, would place prison construction, ownership and operation into private hands. Geake said the bills were prompted by overcrowding at state-owned jail facilities.

"The present situation has allowed criminals facing trials and those already convicted of misdemeanors to walk the street," Geake said. "If the state cannot hold these people, we are obligated to look at other options. Private jails are one such option."

Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano said the privatization of county jails could lead to labor unrest, strikes, liability and uncertain economic gains.

"I've never been supportive of the issue for a number of reasons," Ficano said. "With prisons for profit, how do you handle strikes? What happens if they go bankrupt? The local municipality still has the liability. It's like liquor liability, after the first claim against the facility, they won't be able to find an insurance carrier."

Ficano claims that experiments with jail privatization in Pennsylvania have proved unsuccessful. He said companies managing prison facilities there were not able to realize a profit.

Ficano said one compromise would allow prisons to be privately built, but leased and managed by the municipalities. Still, he said, there are a lot of unanswered questions.

Compromise language has been forged, Geake said, to address issues control.

"Although sheriffs will probably never fully embrace jail privatization," Geake said, "I feel that the bills are now written in such a way as to retain the sheriffs' control over their inmates, safeguard the jobs of deputy sheriffs and, most importantly, increase the tremendous need for jail space in a very cost-efficient manner."

The bills stem from a 1987 state attorney general's opinion which prohibited housing those convicted on misdemeanor charges in private jails, but allowed the legislature to change the statute.

The current jail privatization package is a re-draft of the package introduced last year, according to Geake. The proposal is scheduled for debate before the newly-created Senate Committee on Economic Development.

Youth plan recognized in county

By TERRY JACOBY

Placing the 18 Youth Assistance Programs in Wayne County in the spotlight is the purpose of the Wayne County Youth Assistance Week, March 20-25.

"Though administered differently, all of the Youth Assistance Programs are similar in focus," said Susan Davis, Plymouth-Canton youth assistance director.

"Each attempts to prevent or reduce the onset of delinquency in youth ages seven through 16, through the use of a community-based family intervention," Davis said.

Wayne and Romulus also have similar programs.

"The Romulus Youth Assistance Program offers young people and their families the 'helping hand' that may beneficially change the course of their lives," Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally said.

The Romulus program accepts referrals from the Romulus schools, police department, other community agencies, as well as walk-ins. Youths ages 12 through 17 attend group counseling at the Romulus Help Center one day each week. Peers respond to teen issues for further support and guidance.

Representatives of the Romulus Youth Assistance Program are in the high school and junior high schools one day each week to provide individual and group counseling to students experiencing problems with attendance and behavior.

"The program has been a positive and dynamic supplement to Romulus High School's counseling program," Romulus High School Principal Thomas Dolan said.

The Wayne program recently amended its program to accept referrals from schools instead of the police department, due to a lack of juveniles who would have been eligible for the program.

The first phase of the Wayne program is designed to meet the need of the youth at serious risk in the community. The second phase is designed to serve as a transition phase.

The last phase of the youth connection program focuses on employment assistance. This part of the program is designed to provide 14- through 16-year-olds with some skills and resources for immediate and future employment opportunities.

Take this, Mike Wallace

Can 60 minutes be wrong? Is it possible that I've been ingesting rocket fuel and feeding it to my family on a regular basis? This one, I find hard to believe.

For anyone who's been under a rock lately, 60 Minutes featured a report this month which revealed that the use of a fertilizer called Alar on apples consumed by Americans is a health hazard. That is, this stuff, made from a chemical called Diminidazole, used in rocket fuel, causes cancer in rats, mice and everything else it touches. According to the news show, feeding kids apple juice or apples is an invitation to the oncology ward.

What a great way to spend a Sunday evening, having Mike Wallace tell me that my apple pie is a death trap. Hey, Mike, thanks a whole bunch. And I'm sure every mother in the country with a refrigerator full of apple juice for her pre-schoolers is now on valium while rushing her babies to the pediatrician. I know I would be, except that my babies are 6 foot 3 and 6 foot 4, respectively.

But wait a minute here. It just so happens I have a recipe for an apple pie that is guaranteed to mitigate any such threat. Don't hospitals and doctors use alcohol as a disinfectant to kill germs and counteract unfriendly organisms? I'm sure that must be at least part of the reason for the use of bourbon, calvados or frangelico in this creation. Honestly, apples and raisins are a wonderful mix, especially when the raisins have been soaked in liquor. And nobody can convince me that those darling little California raisins can possibly be bad for your health. C'mon, no cancer-agent could possibly dance like that.

This is superb, but for sophisticated palates...the kids probably won't care for it. And adults who eat it won't particularly care what the kids think. Me? I'm addicted to the stuff.

Apple raisin pie

9-inch unbaked double-crust pie shell
1/2 small jar Smucker's apricot preserves
6 cups apples, peeled, cored and sliced
1/2 cup raisins soaked in 1/4 cup liquor
1/2 cup toasted chopped pecans
3/4 to 1 cup sugar, depending on apple tartness
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 stick butter

Glaze the pie shell with thick apricot jam. Preheat the oven to 425 degrees.

Combine all ingredients except butter in bowl, including liquids. Pour into shell, dot lightly with butter, top with crust. Make several slits in top crust and bake in preheated oven for 50-60 minutes. Serve warm with ice cream or whipped cream.

This flavored whipped cream is a wonderful addition to apple raisin pie.

Cinnamon whipped cream

1 pint heavy cream
1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Have the cream, bowl and beaters from an electric mixer very cold. Pour cream into bowl and beat until soft peaks form. Add vanilla and cinnamon and continue whipping, adding sugar gradually until cream holds very stiff peaks. Refrigerate and dollop on pie just before serving.

SWEET SMELL OF SUCCESS

Area resident is cooking new book

Meals that are simple, natural and absolutely irresistible. That is the trademark of Maxine Henderson's county cuisine.

After 40 years of creating mouth-watering treats for her family and friends, the former Belleville resident has decided to share some of her favorite recipes in the form of a cookbook. Thus, Country Cuisine From Maxine was born.

The book contains approximately 550 recipes, including those for meat, poultry, fish, cakes and Henderson's specialty - yeast breads.

The emphasis of the recipes, Henderson said, is to create food that is simple to make and healthy.

"In the past four years, I've concentrated on trying to reduce the fats and sugar in my recipes," Henderson said.

For Henderson, that goal is not difficult to attain. Cooking is like chemistry, she said. One must write an equation that is balanced.

Actually, Henderson's cookbook is a unique combination of old-fashioned quality and modern science. She mastered cooking while growing up on a rural Texas farm. Today, she organizes many of her original recipes on an Apple computer.

The computer was a Christmas gift from husband, Roland, who has also contributed an oil painting and 64 sketches to the cookbook.

"He's been real helpful," Henderson said.

Roland's accomplices in encouraging the book are the five children of the two, children who constantly call long distance for recipes.

Former co-workers from Annapolis Hospital, in Wayne, have also been helpful. Henderson returned from her job as a laboratory technician at the hospital to take on the cookbook project on a full-time basis.

When Henderson brought some of her goodies to work, friends would beg for the recipes and copy them on napkins, she recalled. Now, she has received 60 orders for the cookbook from the hospital staff alone.

A former laboratory worker at Annapolis Hospital, Henderson was often "hounded" for her recipes for cinnamon and pecan rolls.

"That's the nicest compliment I can receive," she explained.

In all, Henderson has received 400 orders for her cookbook, which she expects will be delivered from the printer any day. Because she funded the printing of 1,000 books, Henderson continues to promote the project.

In addition, she already has plans for future books of the same style. One book will specialize on cookies and dishes for entertaining. Another will concentrate on freezing and canning.

Henderson takes the cookbook-writing projects very seriously. She has taken classes in typing, sketching and computer science. She wants to move forward quickly with her work and hopes to supply her own art.

Now that she is working on the cookie cookbook, Henderson spends four hours each day with the computer and eight hours experimenting in the kitchen. Every recipe in her books is tested by herself and numerous volunteers.

And, despite the time devoted to her cookbook, Henderson enjoys her work.

"Cooking has always been a love to me. When I feel depressed, when things aren't working out right, cooking makes me feel better," she said.

Henderson has offered the following recipes as a teaser to her cookbook. Information about obtaining a copy of the book is available by calling 482-7803.

Maxine's basic sweet dough

2 packages dry yeast
1/4 cup lukewarm water
2 cups lukewarm milk
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 eggs, well beaten
7 to 7 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup margarine, melted and cooled

Add dry yeast to lukewarm water in mixing bowl. Stir to dissolve yeast. Stir sugar and salt into warm milk. Let stand until thoroughly dissolved, about 5 minutes. Add milk mixture to yeast mixture in bowl. Add beaten eggs. Stir well. Sift and measure flour. Add half of flour to liquids in bowl. Beat with spoon until almost smooth and very elastic. Beat in melted and cooled margarine. Then add most of remaining flour and work it in with the hand (possible using the maximum amount) until dough is possible to handle. Mix well.

Turn dough onto lightly floured board. Cover, let stand 10 minutes. Knead dough until it feels smooth and elastic. Round up and put in a greased bowl. Cover and set in a warm place to rise (80 to 85 degrees). Use damp cloth to cover greased dough. Let rise until double in bulk. Punch down dough and let rise again until not quite double in bulk (30 to 45 minutes). Punch down dough and make into dinner rolls, cinnamon rolls or coffee cakes.

After desired rolls are shaped, put in greased pans, cover and let rise until double in bulk. Bake at 375 degrees for 12 to 25 minutes for dinner rolls. Remove from pans and put on rack to cool.

Maxine's cinnamon and pecan rolls

1/2 recipe of basic sweet dough
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup softened margarine
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
1/2 cup raisins (optional)
3/4 cup pecans for pecan rolls

Prepare a 9-by-13-inch pan as follows. Grease sides and bottom of pan with 2 tablespoons margarine. Sprinkle 4 tablespoons brown sugar over pan. Dribble 4 tablespoons white corn syrup over the brown sugar. If pecan rolls are desired, lay the 3/4 cup of pecan halves (smooth side down) in the corn syrup.

After second rising of the basic dough, punch down and roll out on lightly floured board. Spread the dough with paste made of 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup margarine and 2 teaspoons cinnamon. Sprinkle with raisins if desired.

Roll up as if for a jelly roll, sealing ends and edges with fingers. Slice in 3/4 inch slices. Place cut side down into prepared 9-by-13-inch baking pan. Set in warm place. Cover with cloth and let rise until double in bulk. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Remove from oven. Let set in pan 1 minute. Turn pan upside down on a cookie sheet or a piece of aluminum foil. Leave pan over rolls for 1 minute to allow the syrup to coat the top of rolls.

Glaze with recipe below (do not glaze pecan rolls). Serve while warm. Reheat at 250 degrees for 10 minutes. When

Michigan springtime vacations are as close as your own back yard, officials from the Michigan Travel Bureau remind area residents. Exciting getaways nearby include Greenfield Village, the zoo, Belle Isle and dozens of local museums and shops. GOING PLACES

Michigan boasts perhaps one of the largest selections of festivals and fairs in the country.

Throughout the year, more than 1,000 festivals are planned in the state, according to Al Sandner, senior communications manager for the Michigan Travel Bureau.

Festivals celebrate everything from celebrations of the spring flowers blossoming to cultural heritage, Sandner said.

Many of the festivals are scheduled for April, May and June and are open to travelers as well as the local resident.

Fishing is a popular sport in the Great Lakes State and is made evident by the wide assortment of "fish festivals." From April 15 through 23 the Perch Festival is celebrated in Caseville, located in the Michigan thumb. Various contests are open to fishermen.

A parade, craft show, dancing and contests will highlight the National Trout Festival from April 28 through 30 in Kalkaska, located between Grayling and Traverse City. During the same weekend, April 29, the Walleye Festival is scheduled in Freeland, south of Midland.

For maple syrup lovers, festivals are slated for April and May. The annual maple syrup festivals will be staged from April 28 through 30 in Vermontville, southwest of Lansing, and in Shephard, north of Lansing, near the center of the state.

These festivals are staged, Sandner said, when the trees have already been tapped in celebration of another successful year.

The National Mushroom Hunting Championships are stage May 13 and 14 in Boyne City.

"The lore has it that these mushrooms are found in hardwood forests and areas with many nutrients and moisture in the soil," Sandner said. "These are edible and can be found almost anywhere in the state."

The joys of spring are celebrated in May at several different festivals, Sandner said. Parades, craft shows, singing and dancing are all part of these upbeat rituals.

From April 30 through May 7

the Benton Harbor/St. Joseph Area Blossom Time Festival is staged. This is one of the oldest festivals staged in Michigan. The traditional blessing of the blossoms takes place here.

"That area of the state is nationally famous for fruit growing in the orchards. Almost every fruit in the state is featured at that festival," Sandner said.

Of course the Tulip Festival, in Holland, is truly a favorite. The festival, May 17 through 20, features thousands of blossoming tulips in a parade and craft show.

Memorial Day weekend is traditionally a time of festivals. Activities are planned for Fort Michilimackinac and Mackinac Island, including a reenactment of the Indians takeover in the 1700s.

For crafters and shoppers, the annual Matrix: Midland Arts and Crafts Festival, slated for May 31 through June 18, is one of the largest such fairs in the Midwest. It is staged at the Midland Center for the Arts and Dow Gardens.

Leaving the month of May on a good note will be the traditional Pastie Bake, in St. Ignace. The "Paul Bunyans" will seek to build the largest pastie in the world during the May 28 festival. Pasties, a pie-like food, will be offered to each visitor.

An added frill while visiting one of these festivals might be a stay in a historic inn or bed-and-breakfast establishment, according to Bob Neugebauer, of Bob Neugebauer Travel Services, in East Detroit.

Many of the historic inns were homes at one time and some feature special "home-cooked" traditional meals for guests.

The Mayflower Hotel, in Plymouth, is one such establishment. The Dearborn Inn, in Dearborn, and the Botsford Inn, in Farmington Hills, also provide the same "home-like" atmosphere.

For vacationers seeking scenery, the Upper Peninsula is the place to go, Neugebauer said.

"There's a lot of scenery up there. There's Brockway Mountain, in the Copper Harbor area. There's the Porcupine Mountains, near Ironwood and Iron River. They have some pretty good height to them. They aren't Mt. Ranier or the Great Smokies, but they are quite a sight," Neugebauer said.

Pets on the Go

By Mordca Sargal

Leaving a family pet behind while the rest of the crew goes on vacation is often traumatic for the pet and for the family.

More and more people are finding relief from that trauma, however, by taking the family pet along, according to Kathy Blauet, shelter manager for the Michigan Humane Society, in Westland.

Blauet said it is important when traveling with pets that vaccinations be up to date and that proper documentation of those vaccinations are readily available.

When traveling in a car, Blauet suggests making frequent stops so the pet can get out of the car and walk.

"The pet needs exercise just as humans do," Blauet said.

While at the rest stops, a leash is usually required.

"Put your name, address, telephone number and where you're going to be staying on the identification card. If they (pets) do get away, leave reports with a holding facility for strays or the local police department," Blauet said.

For pets that do not normally ride in cars, Blauet suggests a few short rides prior to the vacation. This will help relax the animal and not make the journey so traumatic.

When traveling with a cat, the animal should be placed in a carrier. Cats allowed loose in a car may rip upholstery or distract the driver and other passengers, Blauet said.

A brochure is available to aid pet travelers.

Using tranquilizers, although not highly recommended, is another consideration. Pet owners should consult their veterinarian before taking such action.

"My first choice is to leave the pets at home, unless it is absolutely necessary to bring it along. It's normally less stressful on the animal if it stays at home or with a relative," Blauet said. "If the pet is traveling along, however, make reservations well ahead of time and see if the place you're staying at allows pets in the rooms."

The Mobil Travel Guide lists places allowing pets in rooms, Blauet recommended.

freezing, omit glaze. Thaw first, warm in oven, then drizzle glaze over cinnamon rolls. Instead of 9-by-13-inch pan, two 9-by-9-inch pans may be used.

Glaze

- 1/2 cup powdered sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 tablespoons evaporated milk

Mix together until smooth.

Raspberry jello salad

- 1 large package raspberry jello
- 1 1/2 cups boiling water
- 1 10-ounce package frozen raspberries, slightly thawed
- 1/2 cup raspberry juice (from frozen raspberries)
- 2 cups thick cold apple-sauce

Dissolve jello in boiling water. Add 1/2 cup of juice from raspberries. Stir in applesauce and raspberries. Put into jello mold or an 8-by-8-inch Pyrex pan. Serve on lettuce leaf and top with a dab of sour cream. This salad is a good accompaniment for meat dishes or nut bread.

Baked omelet

- 6 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 6 slices white bread, cubed
- 1/2 pound ground sausage, browned and drained
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/8 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/8 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/3 cup finely chopped green pepper
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 4 ounces grated cheddar cheese

In mixing bowl, beat the eggs. Add the remaining ingredients, except the cheddar cheese. Mix well with spoon. Do not beat.

Pour mixture into a buttered 9-by-9-inch baking pan. Refrigerate overnight. Cover with aluminum foil before refrigerating. Next morning, remove foil and sprinkle shredded cheese over top. Bake at 325 degrees for 45 minutes. Remove from oven and allow to stand 5 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 6 servings. Goes well with hot cinnamon rolls.

EGYPT'S PYRAMIDS

It's just a short ride from Cairo to Memphis and when you arrive you're in for a treat. Memphis was ancient Egypt's first capital. Here you will see alabaster Sphinx and the colossal statue of Ramses II. At the necropolis of Memphis/Sakkara you'll see the oldest free-standing stone structure in the world, the Step Pyramid of Zoser.

Continue on to the Great Pyramid of Cheops constructed more than 4,000 years ago. This monumental pyramid took 20 years to build by teams of over 100,000 workers. It was made of over 2 million blocks of stone averaging 2.5 tons each. By sand cart or camel ride to the plateau and view the sole survivors of the seven wonders of the ancient world. Facing the direction of the sunrise is the Great Sphinx, carved out of one huge rock, depicting Chefren's head on the body of a lion.

Add to this a delightful 4 night cruise on the Nile visiting Luxor, Aswan, Valley of the King's..... and it all adds up to a trip not to be missed. We are going again February, 1990. Contact us for detailed itinerary.

Huron River Rats end Romulus magic of a 'Cinderella' season

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Coach Harold Simons made sure that Romulus High didn't turn his River Rats of Ann Arbor Huron into magical horses and carriage and become the Cinderella team of the 1988-89 high school basketball playoffs.

Striking early, Simons' cagers jumped to a 22-11 first period lead and rode to a 78-60 victory over Romulus in the first round of the Class A regional basketball playoffs staged last Tuesday at Willow Run.

The victory qualified Huron for the championship, while the loss sent the Eagles of Romulus packing for the season.

"It was a disappointing loss," summed up Romulus Coach Dan Henry. "Not only because of the way we played, but because we are capable of beating that team."

Ironically, it was Huron that launched Romulus on a 7-game winning streak. The Eagles beat Huron on Feb. 7 in a South Central Conference game and, on March 7, - one month to the day of their victory over the River Rats - Romulus came away with a frustrating setback that ended their season. Romulus brought down the curtains to a 15-9 won-lost campaign.

Eagles place 2 cagers on SCC

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Grayam Scott, a 6-8 senior center, and Diya Muhammed, a 6-1 senior forward who played major roles in Romulus High's 15-9 basketball season, were named last week to the mythical South Central Conference all-league teams.

The team is picked by the coaches of the SCC, whose members include Ann Arbor Pioneer, Ann Arbor Huron, Ypsilanti, Adrian and Romulus.

Scott joins Carlos Williams (6-7, Ann Arbor Huron), Derrick Pressley (6-1, Ypsilanti), Sean Kenny (6-0, Ann Arbor Pioneer) and Scott McKelvey (5-10, Adrian) on the First Team.

The center attraction, Graham led the team in rebounds and was among the top scorers in the league. The opposition knew that they had to stop the Eagle center if they wanted to come out with a victory.

Romulus won 15 of its 24 games this season, which included a Class A district championship.

SCC coaches picked Diya for Second Team recognition after the 6-1 forward displayed outstanding all-around ability. Diya will team up with James Davis (6-1, Ann Arbor Huron), Kareem Carpenter (6-4, Ann Arbor Huron), Carl Wilson (6-2, Adrian), and Wendell Rogers (6-0, Ypsilanti) in the lineup.

Overlooked by the SCC coaches was Romulus senior guard Virgil Davis, whose ability to hit the three-pointer and ceaseless drive to win kept the Eagles in the midst of all their.

Romulus' Larry Perkins (50) looks for a teammate to get rid of the ball as two Taylor Truman defenders set up a trap. Romulus managed to beat Truman and come away with a victory and the district championship. Robichaud is second best in conference

Patrick leads gold rush with 3 first places

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With Robbie Patrick coming up with a pair of gold medals and also helping the Robichaud 200-medley relay team finish first, Coach Jim Hadley and the Bulldogs finished second to undefeated Willow Run at the 1989 Suburban Athletic Conference swimming & diving championships last week.

Willow Run compiled 391 team points to surface as the sole owner of the SAC title. The Flyers shared the conference honors a year ago with Robichaud.

"I guess I have to say that I am a little bit on the disappointed side," said Hadley whose club posted an 8-6 overall won-lost record and a 6-2 league mark on the year. "The reason why we came up short this year is because we lacked depth. If we can solve that problem a year from now, we will be alright. Most of these kids are underclassmen, therefore, they will be returning to the lineup."

Robichaud's two SAC losses were inflicted by Willow Run which posted 126 points more than the second-place finishing Robichaud. Robichaud had 265, followed by Oak Park 151, Highland Park, 148, and River Rouge was fifth (107). Inkster and Ecorse, also members of the SAC, didn't field swim teams this year.

Patrick, a junior, established himself as one of the finest all-around swimmers in the league. He picked up a gold medal in the 200-yard individual medley after covering the event in 2:19.61.

Patrick also was crowned champ in the 100-yard backstroke as he delivered a 1:02.18 for the event.

Coach Hadley also put the 16-year-old junior into the medley relay lineup. The Bulldogs went with Rob Stewart, Tony Lario, and Gerald Petre who combined for a 1:52.76.

Robichaud swimmers also picked up their share of second and third-place medals. Petre was runner-up in the 50-yard freestyle after turning in with a 24.81, and he also was third in the 100-yard freestyle (56.22).

Stewart was second in the breaststroke (1:10.9) and fourth in the butterfly (1:08).

Lario was awarded a silver medal for his 1:06.68 performance in the 100-yard butterfly, and he finished fifth in diving thanks to a 215.3 point total.

Robichaud's Chris Davenport chipped in a third-place in the 500-yard freestyle. He placed fifth in the 200-yard freestyle.

In the meantime, Jennifer Johnson, who also competed because, under the rules of the Michigan High School Athletic Association, if a school doesn't have a girls' swimming team, a female swimmer may qualify to compete with the boys team.

Johnson set a school record for the 200-yard freestyle when she touched in at 2:46.58. That performance, however, was the 14th best time for the event for the conference.

"These kids have come a long way from their first meet," Hadley noted. "And, I believe, next year at this time we are going to be better."

Class of 1985 Merriman proves he is a Saint

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

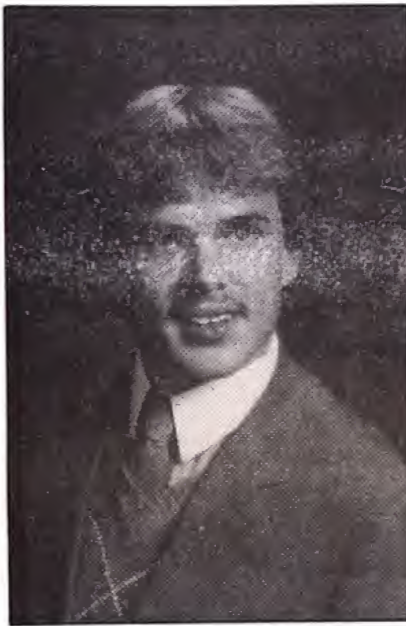

There has been a rich harvest of basketball talent over the years from this area.

To mention just a few, there is Johnny Long, of Romulus High fame, who went on to star at the University of Detroit and played his early pro years with the Detroit Pistons before being traded to the Indiana Pacers. Long is now back in Piston uniform.

Then, there is Grant Long, also a Romulus High graduate who starred at Eastern Michigan University before heading to Miami and the Miami Heat.

And from the Class of 1985 All-Area team, there is Mark Merriman, who has matured into a 6-5, 215-pound center. Mark prepped at Cherry Hill High and is presently one of the mainstays of the the NAIA tournament-bound Siena Heights club.

Merriman, a unanimous choice for All-Area as a prep when Cherry Hill was a high school (the school district has merged with Wayne-Westland) scored 30 points - six of those three-pointers - to pace the Saints to an 89-74 victory over Grand Rapids Baptist last week.

The victory opened the door for the Saints, who are 28-6 on the season, for the NAIA District 23 championship game. Coach Fred Smith's cagers will play today (Wednesday) in Kansas and the winner will qualify for the National Tournament at Kemper Arena in Kansas City.

A product of the Inkster school system, Mark has been the sparkplug that the Saints have needed for the drive to national recognition and glory.

Mark is one of five Merriman children who excelled in sports at Cherry Hill. The Merrimans are also noted harness race horse trainers whose standard-breds have competed at Hazel Park, Wolverine and Northville Downs raceways.

"We're very proud of our children," said Mrs. Merriman, "And we haven't missed a Siena Heights basketball game since January."

"We're just hoping that they can win the national title. Wouldn't that be something?" she added.

The last hurrah, all-area is next

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With Romulus and Robichaud departing from the playoff scenes, the last of the area high school basketball teams have completed their 1988-89 seasons.

Romulus was overpowered by Ann Arbor Huron in the first round of the Class A regional championships at Willow Run, while Robichaud bowed to Milan in overtime at Ypsilanti, ending the Bulldogs' season.

But, although all of the local prep teams are out of the state championship picture, don't go away folks. There's still a lot more to come. The Associated Newspapers' sports staff is putting together their All-Area teams for basketball, wrestling, swimming, and girls volleyball.

The cream of the high school athletic crop will surface right here in the following weeks. Picked by the ANP staff, in cooperation with the coaches, the All-Area will include photos and stats about the team members.

A 'Coach of the Year' also will be included for each sport. So, don't go away.

Setting it up

The winter high school sports season came to an abrupt end last week as the last area teams were ousted in tournament competition. Starting with next week's edition, the sports staff will unveil its All-Area Teams including the long-awaited girls' basketball and volleyball lineups. James selected all-conference

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Rod James, a 6-6 versatile athlete who led Robichaud to a Class B district championship, was named this week to the Suburban Athletic Conference basketball team.

James's impeccable credentials included a 20-plus per game scoring average and a dozen rebounds per game. He was the only local cager to earn First Team status.

The First Team also included Anthony Davis (6-4, Willow Run), Arnold Wilson (6-5, Highland Park), Raylon Croon (5-9, Highland Park), and Gerrod Abrams (6-1, River Rouge).

Two Inkster cagers were drafted on the Second Team. Gary Johnson, a 5-11 junior, and teammate Kevin Pingston, also a junior who is 6-1, were selected from the Inkster Vikings' lineup.

Rounding out the Second Team are: Christopher Carter (6-4, Highland Park), Michael Kaine (6-4, Oak Park), and Michael Odders (6-5, Oak Park).

The all-conference team is picked by SAC coaches. The SAC is made up of the following schools: Highland Park, Inkster, Robichaud, Oak Park, River Rouge and Ecorse.

Highland Park, with an untarnished 10-0 record, captured the 1988-89 league basketball championship.

games this year. Davis and Erick Lightsey, a 6-5 senior forward, were afforded Honorable Mention consideration. "Virgil came on really strong at the end of the season," explained Romulus Coach Dan Henry. "He is just one heck of a player who can turn the tide of any game. Just ask Taylor Truman." Davis rang up five consecutive three-pointers to lift the Eagles to a victory over Truman in the finals of the Class A district playoffs.

Robichaud blows lead, regional

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

In took an incredible shot in the fading minutes of play and a stubborn never-say-die Milan team to eliminate Dearborn Heights Robichaud from the Class B regional playoffs. But Coach Monte Dennard's Bulldogs didn't help themselves. They blew a late lead and fell to the Big Red machine, 64-61, in overtime in the first round of the playoffs at Ypsilanti High School. The loss left sophomore head coach Dennard and the Bulldogs with an even dozen wins and losses for the 1988-89 campaign. Milan advanced to the finals where the Big Reds met and lost to Riverview Gabriel Richard. Richard qualified for the state quarterfinals which get underway today at various sites across the state. The semifinals and finals will be played this weekend in Lansing and Ann Arbor, respectively.

What did the Bulldogs in was Anthony Griffin's three-point basket with less than 15 seconds left on the clock in regulation. Griffin released the ball from the top of the key and in three-point land while he looked as if he was stumbling or falling and the basket landed in its target and tied the game at 59-all.

Robichaud appeared to have the game all sewed up when Billy Holmes came through with a jumper with less than 30 seconds left to lift the Heights to a 59-56 lead.

However, on the ensuing Milan attack, the ball got to Griffin and he released it to tie the game, sending the duel into a three-minute overtime where the Milan outscored their rivals, 11-6.

It was close right down to the end. Milan established the tempo of the game in its early stages as they scored the first six points, but Robichaud's Eric Thomas broke the drought and got the Bulldogs rolling as he scored on a jump shot, then his teammates added six more points to give the losers a 8-6 edge.

Milan came back and took command 12-10 at the end of the first and also led by two (26-24) at halftime as they scored the first 10 points of the second period.

Thomas led all scorers with 21 points and Wheatley chipped in with 16 while Holmes finished with 12.

Second

The two Davises exchanged baskets, with Virgil stealing the ball and driving in for an easy layup as the second period got underway. Muhammed tapped in a rebound before Ryan Griffin sank a pair of free throws and Jammel sank his second basket of the period. That lifted the River Rats to a 28-15 advantage. Though Virgil came back with a two-pointer (28-17), Lightsey fouled Davis Amos who canned two free throws and George Brown came off the bench and turned a Romulus turnover into another easy basket to increase the Huron margin to 32-17.

Scott ended his frustrations with his first basket with 3:33 left that made it a 32-19 score. Unfortunately for the Eagles, that proved to be Scott's only basket for the evening.

However, Griffin then came back and killed the Eagles with a three-pointer, a pair of baskets and ended the initial half with two free throws, pushing the River Rats in front by 21 (41-20) as the quarter ended.

There was little doubt in anyone's mind what the outcome of this game would be. Although Romulus outscored their rivals 15-14 in the third period, Huron had a 24-point lead heading into the final eight minutes of the game (59-35) and the Eagles never seriously challenged that margin.

While Romulus floundered at the foul line where they capitalized on 8 of 18 opportunities, Huron made 23 of 35. In that crucial second period, the Eagles missed five of six charities that could have kept them in the game.

Despite the loss, Henry said that his team came back in the second part of the season to play excellent basketball.

"The victory over Huron was what this team needed to build up its confidence," Henry said. "And when we managed to hang on to beat a tough Taylor Truman team, it showed that these kids are tough. They can hold their heads high.

Let's make a deal on a New Generation Oldsmobile

Make your choice now - and get the exciting New Generation Oldsmobile® you want and any one of these great deals, too. Come in and test drive your choice today!

Amoco Gasoline for a Year. Buy any new Oldsmobile now and you can choose a year's supply of Amoco gasoline. Based on EPA estimated combined mileage for Oldsmobile model selected and 15,000 miles at 95¢ per gallon. Example: for Cutlass Ciera with EPA estimate of 23 MPG for 15,000 miles 95¢ per gallon, this is a $620 value. Value varies by model. You must take retail delivery from dealer stock by April 3, 1989. Ask for details.

OR 4.9% A.P.R. GMAC Financing. Buy any new Oldsmobile, and you can choose low 4.9% Annual Percentage Rate GMAC financing for 24 months. You must take retail delivery from dealer stock by April 3, 1989. Length of finance contract is limited. Dealer financial participation may affect consumer cost. Ask for qualification details.

OR Up to $1500 Cash Back. Buy a new Olds Toronado and get $1500 cash back direct from Olds. Or buy any other new Oldsmobile and get cash back.

See chart for applicable cash back amount.

Now through April 3, 1989, you can choose any one of these great deals on any new Oldsmobile.
